

2050 Metropolitan Transportation Plan Update

Study Area
 DARTS MPO
 Airports
 Railroads
 Lee County
 Dougherty County

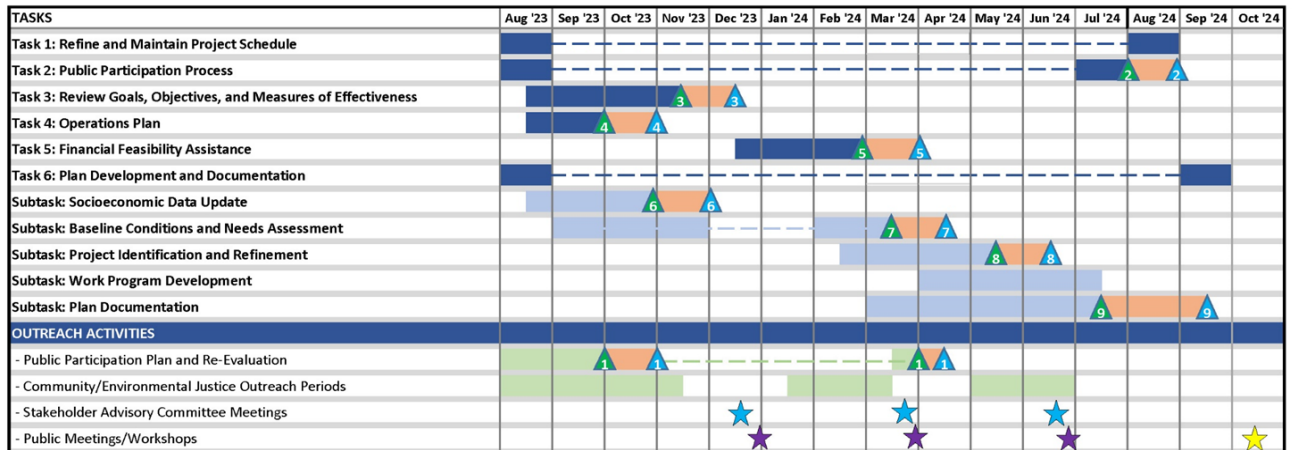

Study Area and Background

The Dougherty Area Regional Transportation Study (DARTS) Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) is updating its Metropolitan Transportation Plan (MTP) to reflect transportation infrastructure and policy needs through horizon year 2050. The MTP will include short and long term strategies and actions for the development of an integrated transportation system to facilitate the movement of people and goods. The DARTS study area includes the City of Albany, Dougherty County and the southern part of Lee County.

Stakeholder and Public Involvement Opportunities

Throughout the MTP update process, stakeholder and community involvement is vital to ensure the development of a plan which achieves comprehensive and equitable transportation investment in the DARTS area. DARTS will issue press releases, promote an online community survey, maintain an email database of interested citizens, and hold meetings at key milestones. Stakeholders responsible for implementation and members of the community are encouraged to participate. The schedule below outlines the timeframe for the plan development process including Stakeholder Advisory Meetings and Public Workshops.
